

Hummmable tunes

YOU won't leave Chelmsford's Civic Theatre after seeing Chelmsford Amateur Operatic Society's latest production without humming at least one of the tunes.

Guys and Dolls, from Monday March 27 to April 1 at 7.30pm nightly is jam packed with haunting and memorable numbers.

From the opening Fugue For Tin Horns in which Broadway gamblers celebrate their love of the gee gees to the exuberant jubilation of Sit Down You're Rockin' The Boat, this show has it all.

There's wit in the relationship between always a fiancée, never a bride Miss Adelaide and her reluctant bridegroom Nathan Detroit.

Unlikely romance between gambler Sky Masterson and his mission doll Sarah.

Above all those glorious melodies including I've Never Been In Love Before and Luck Be A Lady.

It's a difficult show to sing but CAODS' should deliver the goods. Tickets cost £11.50/£10.50 Monday to Thursday, £12.50/£11.50 for the rest and concessions at £9.50/£8.50 are Monday evening and Saturday matinee only.

Bookings: 01245 606505.
